OBITUARY

George Comstock.
George Comstock, a lifelong resident of Waterford, died Tuesday at his home near Quaker Hill. Mr. Comstock lived on a farm near the Robertson paper mills on the road from Cohasset to Quaker Hill. Mr. Comstock was born in New London, sailing on whaling ships out of New London for many years. He left the life of a seaman to take up farming and was successful.

For many years Mr. Comstock was a deacon of the Second Waterford Baptist church at Quaker Hill and his farm was regularly the place of the annual picnic of the Sunday school of that church. He is survived by a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Wing-ham of Bozrah. Mr. Comstock was 81 years old.

Mrs. Hollis Palmer.
Following a gradual failing in health the death of Mrs. Hollis Palmer occurred at her home in Lisbon Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Mrs.
Palmer's maiden name was Ellen Edith Elmore and she was born in New Britain on June 19, 1841, the daughter of Sumner and Lucinda Elmore. About 48 years ago she became the wife of Hollis Palmer, who survives with several children. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer have lived in Lisbon for a number of years and before that they were residents in Lebanon for a long period.
Mrs. Palmer was a woman of high character, and was highly esteemed for her many excellent qualities.

John Albert Morgan.
John Albert Morgan, one of the best-known men in Groton and vicinity, died during the past decade at his home in Poquonock Bridge Wednesday morning at 4:45 o'clock from consumption. Mr. Morgan has for several months been confined to his home. Until the last he retained possession of his vigorous intellect and during the closing hours of his life enjoyed the companionship of friends, bidding each good-bye with his old-time courtesy.

Mr. Morgan, who was the son of the late John W. Morgan, no longer spent his boyhood years in Noank, where he attended the elementary school, and later he graduated from the Myrtle Valley institute, showing a marked intellectual capacity.

He has been twice married and has been embarked in various enterprises in most of the states in the union.
He had some newspaper work in the western states and for a long period was engaged in literary work in Chicago. In later years he was connected with his association with his father in the old office of the town clerk in Groton, where he was confined for many years as assistant town clerk. It is stated that no one man had a better knowledge of the real-estate standing of all owners of property in Groton than he, the town clerk.
He was a man of high character, in politics, likewise, Mr. Morgan was always a factor. Like his father, he was a staunch republican and an ardent worker for his party.
During his younger days Mr. Morgan for some time represented the Brainard and Armstrong Co. of New London, proving himself a most capable salesman. Mr. Morgan was 67 years of age.
He was born in Groton, N. H., and died in Groton, N. H., on Wednesday, April 20, 1910.

PORT OF ENTRY.

Effort Being Made to Get That Advantage for New London.

A committee from the New London Board of Trade arrived in Washington Wednesday morning, says a Washington dispatch. The committee consists of F. C. Chappell, Thomas A. Scott and Capt. Thomas Hamilton. These three gentlemen, accompanied by Senator Brandegee and Representative Higgins, called in the morning on the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Clegg, to favor the proposition to make New London a full fledged port of entry.
The treasury department is opposed to the bill introduced by Representative Higgins, and favors the consolidation of districts and ports instead of creating new ones.

The secretary listened to the committee's arguments, but did not indicate what his decision would be. After the interview the committee was entertained by Senator Brandegee and Mr. Higgins at luncheon.

ENUMERATOR REBUKED.

Woman Refused Positively to Give Desired Information.

Only one person has thus far been found by the census enumerators who has positively refused to answer their questions. This person is a woman, and she not only refused to tell what was asked of her, but, according to the enumerator, she hurled insinuations at the enumerator and it is alleged, conducted herself like a woman of the streets.

The case has been reported to the superior of the census for this district, and it is very probable that an example will be made of her, since the law provides a fine of $100 for people refusing to divulge the information sought by the enumerators.

The last decade has brought an amazing change in economic conditions in this country. From being for centuries an exporter chiefly of foodstuffs and raw materials, and an importer chiefly of manufactured goods, the United States has suddenly been converted into a seller of manufactured goods, an importer of raw materials and a consumer of nearly all of its own food products. In a bulletin just issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, the extent to which the process of reversal has been carried is strikingly illustrated. The value of manufactures exported in 1909-10 will be approximately $500,000,000. It was only $450,- 000,000 in 1901-02, and only $28,000,- 000 in 1895-96. The value of foodstuffs exported in 1909-10 will be approximately $300,000,000. It was more than $450,000,000 in 1905-06, and $550,000,- 000 in 1897-98, the high record year for the exportation of foodstuffs.

The production of foodstuffs in the United States has not kept pace in recent years with the increase in the domestic demand. There has been a possitive decline in the number of cattle and
